SUFFRAGISTS HAVE LARGE ENROLLMENT

In New York State 900,000 Women
Over Twenty-One Years Want to Vote

(By Associated Press)
Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Although the entry of the United States into the war compelled the woman suffrage workers of New York state to abandon elaborate campaign plans to induce the men-voters to adopt the proposed Constitutional equal suffrage amendment at the election in November next, more than 900,000 women over 21 years of age have been enrolled as suffragists. It was announced today by Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, chairman of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, which is in conference here. "This is a larger enrollment membership than either the Republican or Democratic parties of New York State can boast," she said, addressing the conference.

ALLEGED THAT ROYAL ARCANUM IS INSOLVENT

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Aug. 29.—Arthur K. Cummings and James E. Upstone both of Nashua today filed an appeal for the appointment of a receiver for the Royal Arcanum. The petitioners allege that the order is insolvent owing to investments in doubtful securities. The bill filed by Cummings and Upstone is the second asking for the appointment of a receiver.

The first was dismissed on the grounds that the lower court did not have jurisdiction in the matter under indication "of the recent general in public sentiment."

This change of sentiment, the chairman asserted, "has been greatly accelerated during the current year by the recognition of the war services of women in the allied countries, and by the granting of woman suffrage in Russia and Canada and by the steps Great Britain has taken to enfranchise British women."

Mrs. Whitehouse, telling how the war had interfered with the campaign plans, declared that "we have put government work first and suffrage work second." She alluded to what women accomplished during the early days of the war on behalf of the State military

BELGIAN RELIEF STEAMSHIP TORPEDOED

Norwegian Steamer Kongsli Was on the Way From France to the United States

(By Associated Press)
London, Aug. 29.—The Norwegian steamer Kongsli was also reported. The maritime record reports the steamer Kongsli from St. Nazaire, France, for the United States, was sunk off the Spanish coast, according to a dispatch received by the Morning Post. The steamer was a German submarine, but escaped to a British port.

RUSSIAN TROOPS SHOW SIGNS OF WEAKNESS

Abandon Position and Facilitate Teutonic Advance on Roumanian Front

(By Associated Press)
While the Russian leaders are debating at Moscow, with a difference of opinion as to the best steps to take to strengthen the government, the Russian army is showing continued signs of weakness. The latest troops to make a break in the line were those in the vicinity of Polshani on the Roumanian front, who left their trenches yesterday. This facilitated a Teutonic advance which continued all day. Stormy weather is putting a stop to operations on the Franco-Belgian front.

PREDICTS THAT WOMEN WILL HAVE BALLOT

Gompers Says Not to Confuse Relations Between Suffrage and Industrial Betterment.

(By Associated Press)
Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 29.—In a statement predicting that women are going to have the ballot "in New York and all states," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged the delegates attending the Suffrage Conference of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party not to confuse "the relations between suffrage and industrial betterment."

"It is a matter of justice that there should be equal pay for equal work," Mr. Gompers said in his statement, which was read to the conference today by Miss Mary Dreier, chairman of the Industrial Section. "The ballot will help but will not necessarily bring this about. It will result only from the intelligent, self-interested activity on the part of the women."

"The right to vote does not mean that women will necessarily have work. These industrial problems will work out through organization when they have industrial power and influence that will enable them to secure higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions."

Mr. Gompers said that because women have been denied the right to political influence, the struggle of women wage-earners for industrial betterment and industrial freedom has been made harder than that of men.

"Industrial freedom will be achieved," he added, "when wage-earning women hold in their own hands the right and the power to participate in determining the conditions under which they shall work and the wages they will receive. They can delegate this power and responsibility to no outside authority if they wish industrial freedom. Protection and regulation may offer immediate relief—but they are not freedom."

200 MEN WILL REPORT TO BOARD ON SEPT. 6, 7, 8

The third call to be made by the war board for registrants in the selective draft, will be made on Saturday for 200 men starting with call No. 351 and up to 551.

On Thursday, Sept. 6, sixty-eight of the number will report, and sixty-six on the following Friday and Saturday.

The result of the examination of non-residents on Tuesday showed that nine out of ten called appeared, the missing man being G. P. Dickins of Philadelphia. Five out of the nine passed the physical examination and three out of the five claimed exemption.

The board has denied the following claims: Mahlon Anderson of Plainfield; John Joseph Marth of Portsmouth, and Marvin Edgar Perkins of North Hampton. The last named applied for discharge on the ground of being the son of a widowed mother.

In each case the men have ten days to file an appeal to the district board at Concord. Should the state board decline to allow the appeals of these three men the certified list will be 55. The father of Willie Young of Seabrook, filed exemption claim, today on the ground that his son would sleep 21 consecutive hours at a time and that though he was 22 years of age he possessed the mind of a boy 12 years his junior. The father claimed that if his son was called to serve in the National Army other men would have to do his work. The board allowed the claim.

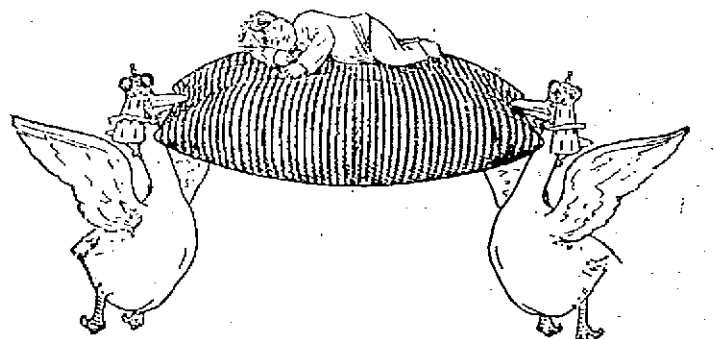

Earle H. Nichols of Newton, a graduate of New Hampshire College, today applied to the board requesting to be one of the men allowed to go with the first contingent, making the third man making the same request this week.

According to the arrangements at present five per cent of the men will be called for mobilization on Sept. 5, forty per cent on Sept. 19, the same on October 3 and the remainder as soon as practicable.

COAL MINERS TO ASK FOR WAGE INCREASE

Willing to Supply Country's Needs, But Want Enough to Live On.

Indianapolis, Aug. 29.—A substantial increase in the coal-mining scale will be asked by the United Mine Workers of America, an invitation to the coal operators of the Central competitive field having been extended late yesterday to meet the miners' officials here on Sept. 5 to discuss an increase, according to a statement issued by William Green, international secretary-treasurer of the miners.

Mr. Green said this decision had been reached at a conference of international officials of the union and presidents of the districts of Illinois, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and Indiana, comprising the Central competitive field.

"If it is necessary to go further and present the claims of the United Mine Workers for an increase in wages to the Federal government so it will agree to increase the selling price of coal sufficiently to allow an increase in the mining scale, this will be done," said Sec. Green.

The letter of invitation to the operators says the recent developments in the coal industry have caused a pronounced spirit of unrest among the mine workers.

"They are of the opinion," says the letter, "that they should receive an increase in mining prices so that their earnings would keep pace with the constantly increasing cost of the necessities of life. They look at the coming Fall and Winter with keen apprehension. It is more than asking their earnings capacity to supply themselves with the necessities of life."

"Insofar as producing an adequate supply of coal in order to meet the national needs is concerned they are willing to respond in the fullest and most patriotic manner. They only ask in return a wage scale commensurate with the present high cost of living."

A letter to officers and members of the United Mine Workers, also mailed yesterday, after explaining the action taken at the conference, urges that in the meantime the mine workers continue to work and refrain from engaging in strikes and cessation of work for any cause.

"You are a part of the great service army of the nation. You owe the government at this time the best service of which you are capable. Nothing is more important to National Success and National superiority than an adequate coal supply," the letter says.

According to Mr. Green, it is the intention of the union to ask an increase for all its members in the United States.

ARMY EXEMPTION RULE MODIFIED

President Causes More Generous Interpretation of Regulations.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—Orders by President Wilson relating to exemptions of married men under the selective draft law have been made public by Brigadier-General Crowder, Provost Marshal-General. These orders are drawn upon the theory that bona fide dependents should be the rule for allowing exemption claims. The meaning of this is that, so far as possible, men who have wives and children actually dependent upon them will be exempted.

This announcement clears up a situation which had been causing much dissatisfaction, and which had been for weeks the subject of correspondence between Administration officials and members of Congress.

In addition to quoting the President's orders on the subject, General Crowder explains the attitude of the War department regarding the necessity of wives going to work to support themselves and children, when their husbands have been drafted. The department does not favor it.

Following is the text of the message sent to the governors dealing with the status of married men, prepared at a conference between Secretary Baker and General Crowder:

"A feeling has been expressed that, in passing on claims for discharge on the ground of dependents, local boards ought, in no case, to refuse a discharge to a married man or to the head of a family. The law under which local boards act requires that granted, dependency as well as relationship must be established. The matter having been presented to the President, the following are his orders thereon:

"We ought as far as practicable to waive this new national army without creating the hardship necessarily entailed when the head of a family is called upon to support himself and his dependents. I have accepted the fact that I have not yet admitted such relations."

"The selective service law makes the fact of dependents, rather than the fact of marriage, the basis for exemption, and there are undoubtedly many cases within the age limits fixed by law of men who are married and yet whose accumulations or other economic surroundings are such that they are dependent on the wife. In fact, the law does not contemplate exemption for this class of men."

"The regulations promulgated on June 20, 1917, should be regarded as controlling in these cases, and the orders issued under that regulation directing exemption boards to establish the fact of dependents in addition to the fact of marriage ought not to be abrogated."

"The intention of this office has been invited to the fact that, in a few instances, local boards have certified to district boards as held for military service, men whose families are actually dependent upon them for support, on the theory that the wife is able to work and should be put to the necessity of going to work to support herself and children."

"This situation is summed up in the following opinion of the district board of New York City, in which opinion this office concurs, with the understanding that the phrase 'supportable from relative' is supplied partial or total previously extended to the applicant himself:

"We do not concur in the view suggested in some quarters that in cases of wife and children actually dependent and where there are no other means of support, the wife should be put to the necessity of going to work to support herself and her children. Bona fide dependency of wife and children on labor of applicant where, in his absence they will be left without reasonable adequate support, after duly taking into consideration soldier's wage and support available from relatives, as stated in the ruling of the Provost Marshal-General, is ground for discharge."

"This opinion clearly and adequately expresses the intention of the law in this regard."

"Paragraph 13, entitled rulings of this office number 6, dealt with a state of affairs where the parents or other relatives of the wife or husband are able, ready and willing to adequately support the wife and children, if any, during the absence of the husband. This ruling was responsive to a class of cases that had been brought to the attention of this office where claims of discharge had been made on the ground of dependency of a husband who, as a matter of fact, was not dependent upon himself. The ruling directed the attention of local boards to the fact that scrutiny of cases of this kind might disclose that no discharge was advisable."

"It was not intended that paragraph 13 of the compiled rulings should apply to the case of the head of a family whose family, at the time of his enlistment and prior thereto, were and had been mainly dependent upon his labor for support."

"Instances in which local boards have been in error in respect of these two classes of cases are rare. It was to be expected that with some 1500 local boards there would be some uniformity of decision in this regard. Every state would have ready much to provide against this uniformity section 27 of the regulations provides for the automatic appeal of all dependent cases to the local boards. The district board should review or modify the decision of the local board."

In his message to governors respecting the new mobilization orders General Crowder said in part:

"The congestion of traffic that will be entailed in the early part of September by the movement of the national guard into training camps makes it inadvisable to attempt to move any large percentage of the national army on Sept. 5. For this reason the War department has contemplated the following schedule of movements of the national army to the Provost Marshal-General: Five per cent of the quota of each state beginning Sept. 5, 40 per cent beginning Sept. 19, 40 per cent beginning Oct. 3, the remaining 15 per cent as soon thereafter as practicable."

"The object of calling 5 per cent is to place in the camps enough men to form a skeleton organization to assist in receiving and assimilating the large contingents. For this reason it is required that local boards send only white men and so far as practicable that they send men with some military experience or cooks."

"In making this selection other numbers are not controlling, but great care must be taken not to send men whose order of call is so late that they will not be within the quota of the boards. The careful selection of these men will be of great assistance to the army, and it is hoped that local boards will act with this end in view."

"In order that it may not be necessary to make any special railway arrangements and to prevent a congestion of normal railway traffic, local boards should be instructed to send approximately 1 per cent of their quotas on each of five successive days beginning Sept. 5. It is thought that every board in the country will have available at least 5 per cent of its quota by Sept. 5 and therefore that it will not be necessary for the Adjutant-General of the State to call upon any board for more than 5 per cent."

"This opportunity is taken to give to local and district boards the credit that is due them for the overwhelming amount of work they have accomplished in scrutinizing the thousands of cases that it was necessary for them to examine in order to have 30 percent of their quota ready on Sept. 5."

"Reports received from practically every state in the Union show that more than 30 per cent of its quota on Sept. 5 and the vast majority of them would have been ready with their entire quota on that date. This service has required a month of the most exacting work on the part of the boards. This work was consummated under adverse conditions and is in large part unaccomplished."

"It stands as one of the most significant expressions of substantial patriotism and devotion on the part of 16,000 men selected from among the best citizens of the country."

NORTH KITTERY

North Kittery, Aug. 29.—The business meeting of the People's Society, Inc., will be held at the new building Friday evening, Aug. 31. Instead of being held at the residence of its president as was previously stated. The officers and members as well as all interested in the society are requested to be present.

There will be a lawn party on the grounds of the People's Society lot Friday evening, Aug. 31. The cream, candy and toilet will be on sale during the evening and a good time for all is assured.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Pierce of Portsmouth were the guests of Mr. Dennis Shapleigh of North Kittery Sunday.

The work on the new building is nearing completion. The men of North Kittery are urged to be present Saturday afternoon to give it the finishing touches.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce and twin daughters visited Mr. Dennis Shapleigh Sunday.

The plans for the Rally day of the People's Society Sunday school are in accord with the day, and the Rally day chairman, Raymond G. Pettigrew, hopes that every man, woman and child, both old and young, will be present Sunday, Sept. 30. Many new members are expected to be received into the school and a splendid program is being arranged by Mrs. Emily S. Pierce and Mrs. H. H. Cook, teachers. In the intermediate department. The official board will act as a welcoming committee, and final plans for the day will be made at the official board meeting at the home of Mrs. Emily S. Pierce, this evening.

Now realize the importance of a Sunday school, and its influence in a community and the hearty co-operation of every individual in the community is solicited.

SEE PEACEFUL ENDING TO ALL LABOR TROUBLE

I. W. W. Is Facing Internal Strife in the Northwest.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Threatened labor disturbances in war industries on the Pacific coast and in the Northwest have passed their climax, officials declared yesterday, and conditions in the affected districts are rapidly improving.

Reports to the Departments of Labor and Justice from field investigations indicate that disaffection exists among the ranks of the Industrial Workers of the World and that the organization may soon face internal strife.

The swift and drastic action taken by the Government to suppress the threatened general I. W. W. strike in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana Aug. 21, officials said, had a discouraging effect upon the organization leaders and so far as could be ascertained no new labor disturbances are contemplated by the organization.

Hundreds of members of the I. W. W. it was said, have become disaffected, and in certain localities many already have indicated their desire to leave the organization.

Peaceful settlement of disputes involving longshoremen was forecast yesterday by the appointment of a board representing the War Department, the Shipping Board, the Longshoremen's Association and the principal carriers, to handle all disputes and appoint local boards in principal cities.

The union scale of wages, hours and conditions in each port will be adopted as the standard. The decision of the National Commission will be binding on all parties and in all cases work will continue without interruption pending the action of any local commission or the decision of the National Commission.

Walter Lippmann, assistant to Sec. Baker, was appointed by the War Department as its representative, the International Association appointed T. V. O'Connor of Buffalo, the committee of shipping of the council of National Defense appointed P. A. S. Franklin. The shipping board's representative probably will be Vice Chairman Stevens.

Mr. Franklin will sit with the committee in cases involving overseas shipping. And H. H. Raymond, also of the shipping committee of the defense council, will act in coastwise shipping disputes.

Several young men of this district, who were rejected by the army and navy surgeons, when they sought to enlist several months ago are being passed by the war board. In other places some men who were discharged from the National Guard for physical disability, have been examined by the war boards and then passed. This hard by seems fair to men who did their best to enlist before the draft.

A Brutal Suggestion.

When a man in a Boston market recently demurred at the high price he had to pay for meat scraps for his cat the marketman coolly said to him: "Take my advice and kill the cat." And on the strength of this brutal suggestion a New England newspaper submits a few editorial remarks in which to a considerable extent it endorses the heartless idea. It says: "This advice may sound brutal to some, but to others it will seem sound and sensible. The actual value of the average household pet, be it cat or dog, is small indeed. In most cases these domestic playthings are merely consumers of food which, in its present scarcity and at the present prices, is too good to be wasted on useless animals."

This is another and a clear case of allowing good things to run to an extreme, a habit to which the American people are peculiarly addicted. The present is a time for saving food in every practicable and sensible way, but the conditions are not such as to warrant any such criminal folly as was suggested by this marketman. The dog and the cat still have their uses and it will be a long time before they will be exterminated for the unholy purpose of saving what they eat.

It must be remembered that there is more than one kind of value in this world and that not all of them are to be measured in dollars and cents. There are few things from which the average family draws more comfort in proportion to the cost than the dog and the cat. These animals are of practical use in ways which it is not necessary to mention, yet in most cases their chief value is as pets, and the value of a pet, merely as a pet, is not to be ignored. When we think of the comfort children take with cats and dogs, to say nothing of the satisfaction their elders draw from the same source, the value of what these household pets eat is extremely small in comparison. With their affection and companionship they repay the cost of their keeping ten fold, and the mere suggestion that they be killed off for the purpose of saving what they consume is no credit to the man who makes it or the newspaper that endorses it in the slightest degree.

There are hundreds and thousands of human cripples and invalids who are not able to earn what they eat. Should we for this reason put them out of the world or cause them to feel that they are nothing but a burden to those who support them, and do it gladly? This thought is but an extension of that advanced by the Boston marketman.

In this matter of food conservation there should be an effort to guard against slopping over. Economy is in order, but it is not necessary to go to extremes in thought or action. If economy is properly practiced there will be enough for all to eat, including the dogs and cats, most of which pay their way better than some of their human "superiors" and are more considerate of them that treat them decently.

The I. W. W. are making serious trouble in the Northwest and it is apparent that the government will have to come down on them with a heavy hand in order to insure industrial peace and public order. There must be no trifling with this great body of trouble makers, whose capacity for mischief is largely due to the fact that they have already been given too much rope.

China is regarded as a slow country, but it is capable of moving with celerity when aroused. After declaring war against Germany it gave citizens of that country who were in China just five days to get out unless they elected to stay where they were during the period of the war. There was nothing slow about that.

Plant lice are working havoc with vegetation in many parts of the country, and in some places potatoes have suffered severely from their ravages. But, on the whole, good crops are in sight from one end of the country to the other and there will be enough to eat if it is properly taken care of.

Coast sportsmen will do well to carefully post up on the law before beginning their fall shooting. The law protecting migratory birds is such that the man behind the gun is liable to make mistakes if he is not fully posted, and these mistakes will prove costly.

A missionary who has been laboring among the Filipinos says the task of elevating that race is tremendous because of anti-Americanism and thick-headedness. Unfortunately, these characteristics are not confined to the Filipinos just at present.

New Yorkers are reported to be preparing to stop treasonable talk. This ought to have been begun years ago when Alexander Berkman, Emma Goldman and others of their ilk were holding forth without let or hindrance.

And still comes the call for men fit for service in the army and navy. The large proportion found unfit is not creditable to the country.

GEN. KORNILOFF TELLS PLIGHT OF RUSSIANS

National Conference Hears Riga in Danger and Fresh Debacle Is Feared.

Moscow, Monday, Aug. 27.—The second general sitting of the national conference heard Gen. Korniloff, the commander-in-chief, outline the situation at the front and in the army.

Gen. Korniloff said the death penalty, restoration of which he had asked, together with other measures, constituted only a small part of what was necessary in an army stricken with the terrible evils of disorganization and insubordination.

In the present month, Gen. Korniloff said, soldiers had killed four regimental commanders and other officers, and ceased these outrages only when they were threatened with being shot. Quite recently one of the regiments of Siberian Rifles, which had fought so splendidly at the beginning of the revolution, abandoned its positions on the Riga front. Nothing except an order to exterminate the entire regiment availed to cause it to return to its positions.

"Thus we are implacably fighting anarchy in the army," the commander continued. "Undoubtedly it will finally be repressed, but the danger of fresh debacles is weighing constantly on the country."

"The situation on the front is bad. We have lost the whole of Galicia, the whole of Bukovina and all the fruits of our recent victories. At several points the enemy has crossed our frontier and is threatening our fertile southern provinces. He is endeavoring to destroy the Rumanian army and is knocking at the gates of Riga. If our army does not hold the shores of the Gulf of Riga the road to Petrograd will be opened wide."

"The strength of every army depends upon conditions in the district in its rear," Gen. Korniloff continued. "The blood which will inevitably flow during the restoration period may be shed in vain if the army, having been reorganized and prepared for battle remains without reinforcements and fresh supplies of projectiles and equipment. I therefore think it indispensable that the measures taken at the front should also be applied in the rear."

"The commander went on to say that according to information at his disposal the capitulation of the railways was such that by November the army would not receive any more supplies. He read figures relating to the production of war materials, which he said had fallen, compared with the period from October, 1916, to January, 1917, by 50 per cent. for guns and shells and 80 per cent. for airplanes.

"If this state of affairs continues," he added, "the Russian armies will find themselves in the same state as in the spring of 1916, at the time of the retreat in Poland, Galicia and the Carpathians."

Gen. Korniloff expressed his firm belief that the measures which he proposed would be put into execution immediately.

"I believe," he said, "that the genius and the reason of the Russian people will save the country. I believe in a brilliant future for our army. I believe its ancient glory will be restored."

Gen. Kaladines, leader of the Dan Cossacks, representing the Council of Cossacks, mounted the tribune and read a resolution passed by the Cossacks demanding above everything for the salvation of the country, the continuation of the war, until complete victory was attained, in close union with the Allies.

License The Walkers
(From the New York Evening Post)
"Heckless walking" remarks Commissioner Woods, "causes auto mishaps." Pedestrians are accordingly advised not to speed up beyond three miles an hour, and, above all, not to get off the sidewalks. Persons taking exercise can just as well keep on making revolutions around the same block. Heroin lies almost absolute safety, as it is but seldom that a truck intrudes upon motorist privacy. However, the better part of valor seems to be to keep to the wall as much as possible, because often a "last-walker's" hub protrudes, quite unintentionally, the commissioner is sure, over the curb, and is apt to catch an unwary walker in the knee. Of course, some persons, by actual process of business which can't be done by telephone, must now and then risk a crossing. For that an intricate set of traffic regulations is given. Much better would it be if pedestrians' licenses were issued. Then if any foot-tourist violated any regulation whatsoever and deliberately got himself run down by a considerable motor, his license to walk could be taken away. If they don't want to be run down, let 'em motor."

Lightening the Tax a Little
(From the Auburn Citizen)
Automobile owners should be glad that the Government puts a tax on them directly instead of upon the manufacturers. They save the collection charge the manufacturers' would add.

Only Two Sides in the War
(From the Springfield Republican)
One of the favorite methods of obstruction in use by certain of the anti-war agitators is to remind us as constantly and forcibly as possible of our own national faults. A New York pacifist socialist addressing a meeting in Chicago, remarked "We are not going to get so excited over German atrocities that we can't see the atrocities of our own people." American atrocities, consequently, assume such proportions in his mind that unless everything in America is promptly righted, he will admit no possible justification for a state of war with a foreign Power. Before we fight Germany for any cause whatever we must be without fault or sin. The nonsense of such reasoning should be apparent. It is a world of moral relations, not of moral perfection. W. J. Bryan has almost practical sense, in saying: "There are only two sides to a war. Every American must be on the side of the United States."

Saving Condemned Food.
(From the Christian Register)
Divine efficiency we have always recognized. Human efficiency is of late growth. We acknowledge its importance at all times, and particularly now. For example, the law in New York city demands that all the fruits and vegetables coming to its markets must be examined at the piers and terminals by a representative of the Board of Health. It happens labor is too high to make it profitable to look it over—sitting good from bad, and rejecting. Some clever women of the metropolis has banded together to salvage this food which otherwise would be dumped on Barren Island. They have a cannery and drying plant in a public school kitchen. It is run chiefly by volunteer labor. The condemned food is brought here and that which can be sold at once. The remainder is canned or dried, gumbages are made into sauce, kraut, and vegetables packed in salt, all to be disposed of later (the public at cost). These women have found that 80 per cent of the food condemned it is possible to save by their prompt and efficient methods.

They've Missed a War!

Donald B. MacMillan and his Arctic exploration party have been rescued after being buried four years in Polar ice and snow, but they have not missed much in that time, as things the world over have been proceeding about as usual!

To Preserve Stock for Breeding
(From the Brooklyn Eagle)
Of the many far-reaching Government plans to mobilize our resources for the war and after, none promises to be of greater value than the creation of a live stock committee of a hundred members, to serve without pay.

The purpose of the committee is to stimulate the breeding of food animals, so as to cut down the cost of meat next year and after the close of the war. The first work of the committee will be to import breeding animals from the West and to stock small farms in the East and South, sections in which raising beef and mutton for the market has been almost abandoned in recent years and where even the raising of pork is not so extensive as it might be. The plan to be followed is like that used for supplying seed and increasing the planting last spring. Depots of breeding stock will be created and county agents will be able to tell the farmers about them, where to apply for such animals as they need, while an assurance of fair market prices for the beef and mutton will be given.

Germany is said to be suffering now from the slaughter of too many of her breeding animals, owing to a miscalculation as to the ending of the war, and reports of a shortage of such animals also come from Norway. Meat has already become a luxury to many of our workers because of high prices, and the demand for export for our soldiers and our Allies is likely to make the conditions at home worse rather than better, unless some concerted and far-reaching action is taken to increase the supply. The formation of this committee is the first step in this direction and it is not improbable that the nature of farming in our Eastern hill country may be permanently changed as the result of its efforts to meet our war emergency.

Illustrative
(From the Hartford Courant)
The Waterbury Beebachelor, printed in German, lets fall a dribble of encouragement to the departing soldiery in the issue of August 4, which may be translated as follows:
It may be the case that the young Americans who scoff at Germany now, later as prisoners of war may learn to love and understand the real worth of this same country.
A sample of the brand of human kindness that is fed to prisoners in the land of Knitter is exhibited in "Engländer Schweigen," which is the report of a young Canadian officer of the Princess Patricia's regiment, who was captured, escaped and tells his story in a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post. It is not complimentary to the Germans.
But notice the fine Italian band of the German editor!

HOME-READING COURSE FOR CITIZEN-SOLDIERS

LESSON NO. 13.

Grouping Men into Teams.

NOTE—This lesson is based upon the present organization of the United States Army. Some changes may be made later.

(Preceding Lessons: 1. Your Post of Honor. 2. Making Good as a Soldier. 3. Nine Qualities of a Soldier. 4. Getting Ready for Camp. 5. First Days in Camp. 6. Cleanliness in Camp. 7. Your Health. 8. Marching and Care of Feet. 9. Your Equipment and Arms. 10. Recreation in Camp. 11. Playing the Game. 12. Team Work in the Army.)

The smallest unit or "team" in the Army is the squad. A squad usually consists of eight men, one of whom is the leader; he is called the "corporal." You will be assigned to a squad at once on entering the Army. At first, you may be shifted about considerably from one squad to another, but within a short time you and seven other men will be brought together as a permanent team. This means that you will work together, drill together, and sleep in the same tent or in the same section of the barracks. You will come to know the other men in the squad through and through and they will become equally well acquainted with you. Some of them will probably grow to be your close and life-long friends. On the other hand, there may be one or two men whom you dislike or do not respect.

The Squad Unit.

In any case, remember this: The eight men in a squad form a team in the same sense that a baseball nine or a football eleven is a team. Your squad is competing with all the other squads in your company. Whenever it shows itself especially well drilled, quick to learn new duties or careful in respect to cleanliness and general bearing, you pile up a few points in your favor. The umpires are the officers of your company; and you may be certain they are watching your squad every minute of the day—not watching for chances to criticize, but watching hopefully for signs of soldierly spirit and intelligence.

It is your first duty to help your own squad make a good showing. Also it is to your own interest to do so. There is no more pleasure or reward for you in belonging to a poor squad than there is for a ball player in belonging to a losing team. Take pride in your squad and its good work. If you find you have one man among you who is lazy or childish, try to get him into a different attitude. Every squad has at least one weak link. The best way to handle him is to talk to him until you get him as much interested as you in making your squad rank as the best in the company.

Incidentally, your captain is not likely to overlook the best squad when it comes to picking men for promotion.

The Platoon and the Company.
Two, three, or four squads (usually three) may be joined in the next higher unit, which is called a "platoon." The platoon, however, is not so permanent as a squad, but is formed whenever there is need for it in drilling or on the firing line.

Next comes the company, which is made up at full strength of 150 men; this is about 18 squads or 6 platoons. This number is "war strength" in our old tables of organization; the first division now in France has 200 men per company; it is probable the strength may be 250 per infantry company. However, these figures for the number of squads and of platoons are never definitely fixed. A company in the field is very seldom at full strength, and it may be convenient at any time to change the numbers of squads and platoons.

The company is a permanent "team" in the sense in which we have been using that word. Its members always live together, eat together, drill together, and fight together. All the officers and soldiers in a company become well acquainted. Each man's points of strength and of weakness are known. Outside of your own company you will probably know very few men, only those with whom you come into touch by accident or while you are serving on some special duty. This is something worth thinking about. You are probably going to live, eat, drill, and fight with the other men in your company so long as you remain in the Army. The sensible thing to do is to conduct yourself in such a way as to command the liking and respect of these men from the very beginning.

Four companies are joined in a "battalion." The battalion is an important unit in the Army organization, but is not so clearly marked as either the company or the regiment.

Regiments, Brigades and Divisions.
The regiment consists of 3 battalions, making 12 companies. In addition, there are three special companies which do not belong to any of the battalions. These are the headquarters company, including the band and the color guard; the machine-gun company, to be referred to later; and the supply company, responsible for the regiment's food, ammunition, and other supplies. Counting in everyone, the regiment at full strength in our old tables of organization totals 2,058 officers and men. It will go more than this with the increase in strength of companies; 2,631 is the strength of infantry regiments in the first expedi-

TEN MILITANTS ARRESTED FOR PICKETING

Suffragists Fail to Move When Warned by Washington Police.

Washington, Aug. 29.—In face of the fact that Attorney Matthew M. O'Brien is on his way from Falmouth, Mass., to Washington with a writ of error signed by Justice Robb under which the six suffragist pickets arrested last Wednesday are granted an appeal from the police court sentence of $25, or 30 days, they repeated the picketing of the White House gate yesterday and the same women were again arrested.

Four other pickets were arrested the same time.

The six women who were out-bond awaiting the action of the Court of Appeals were: Mrs. W. J. Woodward and Mrs. Kate Boeck of Washington, Mrs. Pauline Adams of Norfolk, Va., Miss Margaret Potteringham of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Gertrude Hunt of Minneapolis, and Miss Clara Fay of Little Falls, Minn.

Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Lockwood, carried the same lettered banners which figured in the arrests last week both of which bore the following: "Pickets from President Wilson:

"I tell you solemnly, gentlemen cannot postpone justice any longer this United States."

And "I don't wish to sit down until any man takes care of me what my having at least a voice in what he doesn't listen to my advice, am going to make it as unpleasant as I can."

Re-enforced by Miss Lucy Bai of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Vivian Mae of San Diego, Cal.; Miss Mauda Jarson of Norfolk and Miss Corolla Anderson of Louisville, Ky., all carrying purple, white and gold sashes, the pickets marched to the White House gates shortly after 4 o'clock.

They held their position for at 10 minutes, unmolested by the crowd, which promptly gathered. The police officers arrived, urged them to "move on," and threatened them.

The 10 women were taken to the police station in a patrol wagon, urged with obstructing traffic and released on bail of $25 each, furnished by Miss Annie Martin of Nevada.

The leaders of the women party believe that the granting of a writ puts the matter of picketing (different legal basis and that it could be maintained during the period which must intervene before the appeal which has been appealed can be heard. Under the law a decision in it, once must be rendered by the fifth next January, when Justice Robb expected to return to Washington and make a decision in company with other judges.

BELIEF THAT KITCHENERS STILL LIVE

(By Associated Press)
London, Aug. 29.—Theatricals while spread belief in England that Kitcheners is still alive have taken a new form, namely, belief that Kitcheners is Kitcheners. "Everybody in our street is saying so," was a correspondent to one of the London newspapers. The paper in reply pointed out that Kitcheners is a young man of thirty, but remarks that (if not) probably will not weigh much with the people who like to believe in kind of thing.

THAT BALL GAME SATURDAY LAST.

Those who saw the exhibition of ball playing by Portsmouth and Salmon Falls star players, pronounce it the best ever seen on a playing field. Here were eighteen men, carefully selected by a most competent manager, playing glid-edged ball, start to finish, and the result only meagre, not one-half what it should have been.

Such an exhibition served for better support and if the element desire to see more of this combination of ball players, it is imperative that more liberal contributions give incentive to continue the sport.

WILL BE GIVEN MORE RIGID EXAMINATION

Now that New England's quota 1600 to 25,000 Aviation and Balloon Pilots has been filled all new applicants will be subjected to a more rigid examination. The new form of application received today from Washington requires the applicant to answer without the assistance of the aeronautical staff seventy questions besides furnishing a private physical examination which may or may not be in lieu of the examination required by the board. Applications are now coming in at the rate of 20 daily.

One letter of recommendation closed by the signer writing "Good Luck, Bill, give them h—!"

Another wrote "I want to be there when they shell Berlin."

It is said the observation balloons used by Germany are attached to railroad locomotives and are rapidly drawn to a place of safety when attacked by the Allies.

The speed of the wireless is said to be 187,000 miles per second.

SUFFRAGISTS ARE FINED IN WASHINGTON

Two-Thirds Off for Cash.
(From the Albany Journal)
Here are a few sentences from an address by Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, during recent debate in the Senate, which indicates the need of a joint bi-partisan committee on war expenditures:

"The recommendation of the War Department was for $73,500,000 (for purchase of horses) yet when that question was discussed for five minutes on the floor of the Senate an amendment was offered substituting $25,000,000 for $73,500,000. It was taken to conference, referred to the War Department, and the War Department replied that $25,000,000 would be sufficient for its purposes."

If the first request of the department had been followed blindly by Congress, nearly three times as much money would have been appropriated as necessary, there would have been temptation to extravagance, an invitation for graft, and, in any event, nearly $10,000,000 would have been tied up needlessly at a time when the taxpayers of the country are bending beneath a grievous burden. The appropriation for the war expenditures committee would be only $50,000. It could easily save to the country a thousand times that amount during the present conflict.

SUBMARINE SUNK BY A FLOATING MINE

British Warship Drops One in Its Wake During Chase.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 29.—A story of how a German submarine was sunk by a floating mine left in the wake of a British cruiser which the submarine was following, was told by the captain of a British merchantman arriving here yesterday. His ship had been sunk by the submarine, and the crew had been picked up by the cruiser. When the lookout on the cruiser sighted the periscope of the submarine, it was at a distance of about 100 yards. The submarine was at the surface and the mine was lowered over the side of the cruiser, which then put on all steam and ran straight ahead, while the submarine followed. Soon an explosion blew the U-boat out of the water. The cruiser returned and rescued two German sailors from the sunken submarine.

HELPING GIRLS TO HELP MEN

Character Building Advanced in Many Ways by the Y. M. C. A.

New York, Aug. 28.—Belief that anything which builds up the character of the girls of a town is bound to help the men, is the basis of the work being carried on by the national board of the Young Women's Christian Association in towns and cities in which military cantonments are being erected or are already built. This work consists of placing specially trained Y. W. C. A. secretaries in the areas around the cantonments. They gather together all the resources of the community which can be made to serve the interests of the young women and girls, such as swimming pools, summer cottages and camps, club work, physical training, and recreational facilities.

The Young Men's Christian Association holds that co-operative work for women by women in communities where men are to be quartered is absolutely essential for the safeguarding of the camps. The attention of the officers of the Y. M. C. A. is centered on the men in the camps. The work for women in the communities, when it is done, must be done by women. Work being done along these lines includes the establishment at Plattsburg of seven clubs of girls, who are using a new clubhouse there. For the factory girls who are out of work for the summer, a camp has been made available. Girls employed in the army post form one of the clubs.

In Charleston, upon request by the Chamber of Commerce, the Association found homes for several hundred girls, who come to operate a new factory which is turning out uniforms for the Government. In Indianapolis there is a special worker who has club work for girls well under way in towns between the city and the fort. Minneapolis authorities turned to the Y. W. C. A. to help instruct a large number of industrial girl workers who, with their evenings unoccupied, needed wise supervision.

Hostess houses are also being erected, but only on the invitation of the commandant of the camp. At these houses women relatives and friends of the soldiers may have a homelike place to meet their "soldier" friends. These hostess houses also have cafeterias in charge of a trained worker and they are constantly filled. Women who are prominent socially take turns in acting as hostesses during the week ends.

Another idea is the formation of the Patriotic League for Girls in all cities and towns near camps. This league is under the direction of the Junior War Work Council of the national board and is open to all girls regardless of race or creed, the only obligation to the member being to sign the league's pledge and to keep it.

RED CROSS SENDS COMMISSION TO SERBIA

Washington, Aug. 28.—The War Council of the American Red Cross today announces the sending of a commission to Serbia to begin immediately relief work in that stricken country and to help its scattered population in the struggle against privation and disease. Two hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated by the War Council to buy medical and other supplies for use among refugees on the Macedonian front. Cordell Arnold Severance, an eminent lawyer of St. Paul, Minnesota, heads the mission as Commissioner.

Deputy commissioners are: Dr. Severance Burrage, Sanitarian, formerly of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. Frederick T. Lloyd, physician, of Boston; Dr. Eugene A. Crockett, surgeon, of Boston; Fater Francis Jager, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis; Edwin D. Haskell, secretary, Minneapolis.

Two other members of the commission, W. A. W. Stewart of New York, and L. D. Wishard of Pasadena, California, left some time ago for Salonika. The fifth of the Red Cross Commissioners goes to study a problem acknowledged as one of the most formidable in Europe. There is hardly a family in Serbia that has not been uprooted and torn from its home, and none that has not lost some member on the battlefield.

What have been the nation's losses during the past five years of bloodshed cannot be estimated. From an army of nearly a half a million at the beginning of the war, over a hundred and fifty thousand men are estimated to have been taken prisoners by the Central Powers and are suffering from malnutrition in prison camps. Many thousands were lost in the retreat through Albania. Of the army of one hundred thousand now on the Salonika front, about sixty thousand are actual fighting men.

The civilian population has suffered as greatly as the army. It has been harried over the face of Europe. One hundred and fifty thousand fatherless families, it is estimated, are facing destitution in various countries. Refugees in Russia, Roumania, Greece, Italy, France and Switzerland number over thirty thousand. Fifty thousand families are interned in Austrian camps. After the massacres at Nish last February, when 20,000 Serbians died in revolt, upwards of thirty thousand of these unhappy people were deported by the Bulgarians into Asia Minor.

The pressing needs of Serbia have been laid before the Red Cross War Council by Dr. Edward Ryan, Red Cross representative at Salonika, and by Miss Emily Simmons, graduate of Roosevelt Hospital, New York, who enlisted in the Serbian Red Cross in 1914 and has since then assisted in the relief of thousands of refugees.

Miss Simmons urges the dispatch of food, clothing, bandages, blankets, seeds, agricultural tools, as well as of doctors and nurses. In her informal report to the Red Cross, she said:

"There were only four hundred doctors in all Serbia at the beginning of the war, and the death rate has been high. Sixty died of typhus alone in January and February, 1915. There are 116 doctors now in the Army, but only one dentist. Women doctors are especially needed for maternity work in the villages. One doctor in a small car could furnish medical supervision for several villages. A system of soup kitchens in the villages is an absolute necessity if famine is not to make good its threats this winter."

CRITICIZE NEW GERMAN FASHIONS

(By Associated Press)
Amsterdam, Aug. 28.—In response to the old demand throughout Germany for a new mode of women's clothing that shall be entirely German and absolutely independent of Paris, the Munich Weiland has brought out, after long preparation, a special supplement of entirely "German Fashions," containing a series of colored designs "absolutely German in inspiration and elaboration."

The supplement has attracted wide attention in the German newspapers, but almost without exception the criticism is adverse. The Berlin Tageblatt says: "The illustrations might well be taken for caricatures. The body from the waist upwards appears far too short and humpy, the lower part is padded to appear as an enormity. Bulging pockets; hats too small or too large, falling over one ear; wide outstanding collars and others absurdities complete a figure from which any rational man would turn with loathing."

The Tageszeitung and other papers declare that if this is a fair specimen of German genius for designing ladies' fashions German women had far better depend as in the past on Paris.

ASSIGNED TO GUARD DUTY

First Company, Coast Artillery, Will Act in This Capacity at Camp Devens.

The departure of the First Company, C. A. C., which left this city on Tuesday afternoon for Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., where they will do guard duty, was witnessed by a large concourse of people and there were many sad leave takings at the railroad station.

At Market Square they were met by the U. S. Naval Band and several thousand people. Lemonade, furnished through the courtesy of D. P. Borthwick and cigarettes given each man and Deputy Sheriff Wilbur Shaw presented the boys with tobacco.

The naval band played patriotic airs, after which the march to the depot was taken up and the company was followed by nearly all the people who assembled in the square.

At the railroad station a committee consisting of E. Curtis Matthews Jr., Fred A. Gray, H. P. Montgomery, Fred Sanborn, Clarence Pearson, Robert Bradley and E. L. Patterson took up a collection for the company's fund and $100 was secured. Major Hartford in behalf of Gov. Keyes gave the boys a brief talk.

The crowd at the station was exceptionally large but well handled by a police detail consisting of Deputy Duckers, officers Gray, Smart, Shannon, Condon and McLean.

A delegation from Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., headed by Commander M. H. Bell, rode to the depot with the company, and they carried the Post flag. In the escort were Messrs. Bell, Doolittle, Marden, Peterson and Marston.

GERMANY SHOWS SIGNS OF WEAKENING

Gives in to Argentine and Offers Her the Freedom of the Seas Even for Food Stuffs. Fighting on All Fronts Slowing Up

(By Associated Press)

The fighting on all fronts except in Roumania shows a remarkable slowing up.

On the Flanders front held by the British had weather has set in again and aside from artillery duels, which at times approach the intensity of drum-fire there is very little action reported.

On the Verdun front the Germans have ceased their counter attacks and evidently have seen that it is a hopeless task to try and drive the French from the position they captured last week. The infantry remained in their trenches and there were not even trench raids reported.

On the Biazizza plateau on the Italian front the Italians and Austrians are engaged in a furious battle with the Italians on the offense, but the Austrians offering a desperate resistance. Silence is maintained by the Rome war office as to what is going on on the Carso plateau. The official Austrian communication acknowledges the capture of Monte Santo by the Italians but states that it was evacuated by the Austrians and that the Italians entered without resistance being offered.

In Roumania the "Pentonic" forces are still on the offense and there is considerable fighting going on along the whole front. In northern Russia the Germans have not made any further move toward Noga, the Russian naval port and it is taken for granted that it is not a German drive.

Germany in order to avert the possibility of adding to her foes, has modified her submarine policy in so far as its effects Argentine and have agreed to pay that country for the loss of the steamship Torsos. Germany's reply is virtually allowing Argentine ships the unrestricted freedom of the sea, ever as to the carrying of food stuff, which has always been contraband.

EVERT JANSEN WENDELL DEAD

Paris, Aug. 28.—Evert J. Wendell of New York, member of the Olympic committee and widely known in athletic circles in the United States, died today in the American Hospital.

Wendell Active in Sports and in Philanthropies.

Evert Jansen Wendell, member of an old Boston family, brother of Barrett Wendell, formerly a Harvard professor, and of the late Jacob Wendell of theatrical fame was one of the best known Harvard men, was called "the father of Harvard track athletics" and had been closely associated with college, school and A. A. U. athletics all his life.

His sunny disposition and genial personality made him perhaps "the most popular Harvard man." He rarely missed a Harvard function, and for years he had led the Annual procession on Commencement Day in Cambridge. He had often been marshal for the class of 1882, at Commencement.

"I never knew a person who had a bad word to say for Evert Wendell," said a Harvard man who had seen much of him in the past 25 years.

In New York city, where he lived as a bachelor, Mr. Wendell gave freely of his time and his abundant money to help boys and workmen. To Mr. Wendell none of these boys was "bad." He was known as "the boy philanthropist."

More than 2000 youngsters were at one time corresponding with him. Twelve years ago he made western trips to visit New York boys he had sent out there.

Followers of track athletics appreciate Mr. Wendell's influence in sports. He stood for healthy, honest, good sportsmanship and set the example himself.

No one who knew him was surprised when he went abroad to help look after the American soldiers. Much of his life had been devoted to just that kind of work. He never entered business, but used his large income on philanthropic enterprises.

Brother of Prof. Barrett Wendell. He came of a distinguished family. His father, Jacob Wendell, long one of the leading wholesale dry goods merchants in New York city. His mother was Mary B. Barrett. One of his brothers is Professor Barrett Wendell of Harvard and another was the late Jacob Wendell, who won recognition on the stage. Evert Wendell was born in Boston Dec. 6, 1860, but when he was three years old his parents moved to New York. After sitting at Dr. Collis's school in New York, Evert entered Harvard with the class of 1882.

From the time Evert J. Wendell entered Harvard in 1878 until he was graduated in 1882, he was the dominating influence in track athletics there. He aroused such interest in this branch of sports that in 1880 a Harvard team came back from Mott Haven a winner for the first time, and after that for seven successive times the team was victorious. It was this influence that won for him the title, "The Father of Harvard Track Athletics."

He fitted for Harvard at Callison's School, New York, and arriving at Cambridge immediately began to win athletic honors. At the very start he jumped into prominence by winning the 100-yard dash at the fall games, clipping the best previous Harvard record, held by Robert Bacon, '80 since then United States Ambassador to France, by half a second. His time was 10 1/2 seconds.

Later in his course he made the college record 10 seconds and also made the record for 220 yards, both of which he held for many years, although they were equalled by many college sprinters and finally surpassed. While in college he won seven championships in the intercollegiate games in 1879, 1880 and 1881, at distances from 100 to 440 yards.

Never Beaten at 220 Yards. In 1879 the team elected Wendell captain, though he was only a freshman. He kept the position through his four years, and was president of the Athletic Association in his senior year. He built up a track team from the smallest beginnings, from a squad of four men to a team of 40.

Wendell was never in his career beaten at 220 yards, and he was defeated only four times in more than 50 races.

In the trophy case in his New York home are 70 odd prizes which testify to his former athletic prowess.

After graduation, Wendell traveled abroad for 16 months, and on returning became very actively interested in amateur athletics. His efforts were always bent upon fostering sportsmanship of the highest type and the promotion of healthy outdoor competition.

He was in constant demand as a referee, judge or timer at big athletic meets. He rarely missed a Harvard-Yale boat race, track meet or football game. For years he was one of Harvard's representatives on the dual cup committee.

When the Harvard football team went away for the last days before the Yale game, it always solicited and usually obtained the company of Evert Wendell and his brother "Jack," who entertained with songs and stories, to get the thoughts of the boys off the coming contest.

Entertained English Athletes. In 1895 Mr. Wendell was chairman of the reception committee that entertained the Cambridge, Eng., University team at the time of the international games. He was chairman of the joint committee that had charge of all arrangements for the Yale-Harvard Cambridge-Oxford dual games at Berkeley Oval in 1901.

Afterward the Englishmen sent him a beautiful silver salver with the seals of both universities engraved upon it, to show their appreciation of his efforts to make their visit here a pleasant one.

In 1904 he accompanied the Harvard and Yale team to England on the occasion of the international dual meet. As chairman of the joint committee he was spokesman for the American colleges at all functions given by their Oxford and Cambridge rivals.

For many years he was official time keeper of the Poughkeepsie regatta. In 1910 he was official timekeeper of the Harvard aviation meet at Squantum. He was an official in the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, the Amateur Athletic Union and the International Committee of the Olympic Games organization.

SENATE KILLS INCREASE POSTAGE BILL

Washington, Aug. 28.—The Senate today by a vote of 33 to 29, struck from the war revenue bill the provision for an increase in letter postage from two to three cents.

This marks another victory for the forces contending against imposition of heavier taxes on the people.

About $50,000,000 revenue could have been raised actually through the postal increase must be made up elsewhere.

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts attacked increased postal rates on newspapers and magazines and profit tax on publications.

"From the standpoint of equity and justice," said Weeks, "the publishers of the country may well say, 'A plague on all your houses!'"

"Every one from the President down, who has had anything to do with revenue legislation has recognized that taxes should be so levied that they would not materially damage any enterprise. This legislation would damage a great industry, and, therefore, it should not be passed."

Senator La Follette today introduced eight amendments to the war profits tax section of the bill. Each puts a flat rate on war profits, instead of the graduated scale provided for in the Senate bill.

La Follette's proposed rates are 43 per cent; 52 per cent; 55 per cent; 60 per cent; 64 per cent; 68 per cent; 72 per cent and 76 per cent.

He will seek adoption of the 76 per cent rate first, and then go down the scale ranging in tax returns from $2,280,000,000.

LESSONS OF THE GREAT WAR

(By Associated Press)

London, Aug. 29.—Lieutenant General Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell, in a statement on the opening of the fourth year of the war, sums up the lessons which the war has thus far taught as follows:

"Tactical: Strategy, consisting as it does of principles, remains but little altered, but tactics, or the methods in the fighting field have been strangely twisted through the use of the high explosives, mechanical transport, matter, and by vast numbers of men engaging fighting overhead and under water.

"Scientific: In the field have been devised new explosives, poison gases, curative drugs, and many ingenious devices for killing or saving men."

"Industrial: State control has been experimented with; intensive work has been introduced, and new industries, including standardization in ship building and aeroplane manufacture, as well as the home supply of over-sea products and many things hitherto made in Germany."

"Social: Class distinctions have largely disappeared; work is done for work's sake; reforms long used in theory for political cloaks are becoming practical reality."

"Political: The exaggerated value of party politics and the inefficiency of our politicians at home and our diplomats abroad have all been shown."

"Imperial: What some were pleased nations accounted by a common tie and to look upon as British Colonies are now recognized as great self-contained common aims, whose strength is in their freedom."

"International: Communion with our brought us into closer touch and mutual allies in fighting for a high ideal has sympathy than any mere commercial alliance could have done."

"Domestic: The war has discovered the splendid courage and sense of duty that animates our race throughout, while the women by rising to the occasion have put themselves upon a new and higher plane."

"Educational and Religious: The war has met the exigencies of the future has been more than plainly shown."

ROYAL HAIRCUT

In Some Countries It is Performed With About as Much Ceremony as is a Wedding.

In some Eastern countries children's hair is not cut until they are 10 or 12 years of age, the girls then being considered marriageable. Up to that time it is coiled on the top of the head and adorned with fresh flowers.

When the great day for cutting comes, there is a grand ceremony, accompanied by much feasting.

One who was present at a royal hair cutting tells us that the favorite of the harem was robed in long, flowing garments of silk and lace, confined at the waist by a golden girdle. Her long hair, coiled for the last time, was fastened with diamond pins, which gleamed and glittered among fresh white flowers and green leaves like pearls drops of morning dew.

There, in the presence of the ladies, her father an officiating priest, surrounded by her maidens, some 200 in number she knelt under a canopy of flowers and leaves while prayers were chanted.

Then, the beautiful tresses being unbound, her royal father, dipping his fingers in rosewater and drawing them carefully over her head, clipped off about an eighth of an inch of hair and threw it into the golden basin, depositing at the same time, on a great salver placed ready to receive them, presents of jewels and gold.

The priest cut the next piece, her mother the next, and so on each guest serving in turn until the little lady was shorn.

All gave costly gifts, intended for her marriage dowry—princes, ministers of state and dignitaries of all sorts, who waited in the outer courts, sending in theirs by attendants. The day ended in feasting and a display of fireworks.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

COAL OPERATORS TO FIGHT WILSON

Washington, Aug. 28.—Coal operators are making a concerted drive against government control, intimations of injunctions against President Wilson's bituminous prices—particularly those in Alabama—were heard today.

The bituminous operators also are attacking the federal trade commission in letters to President Wilson. The absence of prices for Michigan mines was cited by operators as "evidence of looseness" in the government's regulation of the coal industry.

When Coal Controller Garfield turns his attention from wheat to coal, probably next Friday, the entire problem will be passed to him by President Wilson. He will have as his assistant H. B. Nims, New York lawyer, Garfield has already leased offices and started to build up an organization to run the coal industry. He will hear complaints of operators who declare the President's prices are virtually confiscatory.

These operators have asked legal aid vice on their right to appeal to courts for relief in case the government declined to increase the prices of coal at the mine.

Many have appealed to the President for the coal figures on which prices were based.

They also demand to know why they weren't given a hearing.

GROWN-UP KIDS WHO DEFEY THE CAMERA'S TRUTHFULNESS.

Ruth Stonehouse is never so happy as when she is playing a "kid part." She wrote, directed and acted the lead in her series of Mary Ann Kelly stories, just to give herself the satisfaction of experiencing the feelings of a little girl again. She understands the scruples of Peter Pan who refuses to grow up.

Ruth Clifford is another "grown-up" who can impersonate a twelve-year-old without much difficulty. Of course, it is not so very long since she was twelve. It is Ruth, you know, who is such a believer in "physical training for actresses that she is taking lessons in athletics from no less a person than Eddie Polo, now enjoying "The Eddie Polo" with his prowess.

Antrim Short used to be classed among the child actors, but he is really almost grown up now. He is so big that he has difficulty in convincing the directors that he is a boy at all, and he certainly makes a very manly young man. As a kid he made his biggest hit in a single reel Lois Weber picture called "There's No Place Like Home."

Violet McMillan is one of the most successful impersonators of children who play for the screen. One reason for this is that Violet stopped growing while she was still a child's size and has the smallest "adult" foot in the world outside of the Chinese Republic (or is it Empire this week?)

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

Food speculators are ill pleased. The fuel dealers unappreciated. To have the Government step in and cut their profits rather than. How much will the producer gain or the consumer, is not plain; High salaries officials will have theirs to gather from the till, and while all these make profits less the public still will feel the stress. Of prices which can't lower go. For each and all must get a show.

We're promised, though, by eating less. And being careful how we dress. Economizing as to coal. That we can body keep and soul Together while this war is on. And this of all our care the one That makes us worry, most and fret: We shall not freeze or starve—just yet.

—J. E. Moor.

NEW BOND ISSUE WILL BE MADE

Secretary Meadows of the Treasury Department was closeted with the Ways and Means Committee of the House at Washington, today, explaining his plan for the issue of $11,538,945,400 in bonds and treasury certificates to meet war expenses and loans to Allies. He urged action as speedily as possible, though there is evidence that some of his propositions, especially the interest and surplus provisions, will meet strenuous opposition. House leader Kitchin figures that the expenses to the end of June, 1918, for war purposes, will aggregate $19,000,000,000 and he says the need of a couple of billions more to go and come on. In the Senate after discussing the postage feature of the war revenue bill a bit, while the leaders are trying to reach an understanding as to tax on war profits and incomes, a vote was taken on the proposition to add one cent to the postage rate on letters and postcards. This would make the letter rate 4 cents and that for post cards 2 cents. The proposition was eliminated by a vote of 39 to 20. The extreme radicals, represented by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and Senator Johnson of California, have introduced amendments calculated to take as high as 50 per cent of the large incomes. Clature has been abandoned for the present, though fifty senators have signed to undated request for its employment. Senate leaders say it will be invoked only as an undated request for its employment. Senate leaders say it will be invoked only as an antidote for filibuster.

PORTSMOUTH GAS CO.,

Always at Your Service

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 29.—The survey of forty-three counties in various parts of the country, are to be inventoried on August 31 by a detailed and personally supervised survey, conducted by the United States estimates from figures will make it possible to approximate the quantity of all of the food on hand in such establishments in the country. To get this result the counties have been selected with great care, including some as presenting conditions which will reflect varied types of life and industry. The survey of retail stocks is only one of the four now under way, the other three being the "stocks on farms," in wholesale commercial establishments and storages, and in the homes of the consumers. Aside from the cities and counties in which the detailed work will be done, the survey of retail stocks of food will be handled by schedules through the mails.

The actual work of making the surveys will be directed by the Bureau of Markets of the Department, assisted locally by the agents of the Bureau of Chemistry and of the States Relations Service. Other local agencies such as boards of trade, chambers of commerce, retail grocers' associations, farm bureau agents, and other State, county, and city officials have assured the Department of their assistance. The blanks for detailed reporting of stocks on hand are distributed locally in cities by local health and police officials under the direction of Bureau of Chemistry, and in rural communities by county agents and patriotic organizations under the general direction of the States Relations Service.

Counties Selected
Aside from New York, where an inventory bill will be made, the largest city selected as a part of the basis of estimating is Cleveland, Ohio. Its county, Cuyahoga, was selected because Cleveland is centrally located with reference to large industrial centers and may be considered as a typical manufacturing and commercial center. A detailed survey of New York City will be made as a separate problem, but owing to its large size it cannot be used as a part of the basis for estimating for the entire country, since it would completely overshadow the total of all the other selected districts combined.

The second group of counties includes the cities of Syracuse, N. Y., Dallas, Tex., and Altoona, Pa., with its outlying towns of Tyrone and Juniata. These three are thought to represent conditions as they exist in a city which depends on manufacturing, one which has a big agricultural back-country, and one which depends on the mining industry.

The grouping as a whole is in accordance with population. The first group, represented by Cleveland (Cuyahoga Co.) is for metropolitan districts with a population of 200,000 or more. The second group includes counties with a population of 50,000 to 200,000. The third group takes counties with cities 25,000 to 50,000; fourth, from 10,000 to 25,000; and so on down to 2,500, and then certain counties having no city or village of 2,500 population.

Other Group Divisions
In the third of counties are the cities of Montgomery, Ala., Topeka, Kans., Birmingham, N. Y., and Sacramento, Cal.

The fourth group includes Concord, N. H., Butler, Pa., Jackson, Tenn., Iowa City, Ia., and Walla Walla, Wash.
Group five has five cities with their outlying county population. They are Oneonta, N. Y., Americus, Ga., DeKalb, Ill., Bowling Green, Ky., and Provo, Utah.

Group six includes ten counties with cities of from 2,500 to 5,000 and the index cities are: Springfield, Vt., Stroudsburg, Pa., South Boston, Va., Allegan, Mich., Lake Geneva, Wis., McPherson, Kans., Marshall, Mo., Canton, Miss., Stillwater, Okla., and Marshall, Ore.
The final group, in counties having no towns as large as 2,500 population includes 15 towns as follows: Eaton, Ga., Garthage, N. C., Seaford,

CONSCRIPTION NOW A LAW IN CANADA

(By Associated Press)
Toronto, Can., Aug. 28.—The military conscription bill tonight became a law when it was signed by the Governor General of Canada. Just what opposition will be shown in Quebec and other French provinces of the Dominion is not known but the government is prepared for anything with the signing of the bill considerable of the opposition and especially the open talk against conscription is expected to be stopped as the bill is very drastic.

IS SKIPPER AT NINETY-SEVEN

Captain of Schooner from Provinces in Service Again Because of Scarcity of Young Navigators.

A British schooner now on the way to an Atlantic coast port from Advocate, N. S., is understood to be in command of a skipper who is ninety-seven years old—Captain James Moore of Pictou, N. S. The fact that a man so close to the century mark is master is attributed to the scarcity of younger, competent navigators, due to the war's drain on the manhood of Canada. It is also understood that the crew of the schooner is made up mainly of boys under the military age.

IN A MAN'S POCKETS

Most Useful Part of a Suit of Clothes Is the Pockets Therein

Pockets are among the most useful things ever invented. What a small town hick would do for a place to put his hands had he no pockets is hard to imagine. No man knows exactly how many pockets he has. If you don't believe it ask the first man you meet. He can't come within four of it. Each suit of clothes is equipped with as many of these repositories that the average "he" can't think right off the reel how many he has got.

Give a man a suit of clothes without a single pocket and he would be lost. Just look what a man carries around in his pockets. In his pockets, a can of tobacco and a pipe, or two or three cigars (more often these are worn in his vest just over his heart), a fountain pen, a pencil or two, a photograph, of a dizzy brother he doesn't want to see, a knife that won't cut anything, a key ring with 14 keys on it, some stamps all stuck together, a few rubber bands, a memorandum book, a newspaper clipping of something the local paper said about him, a watch, a few matches, a pocket handkerchief, a poker chip, a card or two admitting him to his favorite club, a pocket-book with some money in it, a laundry ticket, a rabbit foot, a clasp of a silk garter, a few cigar store coupons, a deck of cards, a pistol, a receipt for curing a cold, a piece of court-plaster, a dream book, a lock of hair, and on and on.

These are but a few of the things he carries. Of course, it requires a lot of pockets. That's why the average man has between 14 and 16 pockets.

I feel sorry for Adam. He had none. What did he do?—Baltimore Sun.

THREW ROCKS AT THE POLICE

Arrest of a Sailor Nearly Causes a Riot on Daniel Street.

The arrest of a sailor by the name of Charles E. Flood nearly caused a riot on Tuesday evening. Flood was in one of the dance hall and was in the act of starting a fight with another sailor when Patrolman Smart interfered and ordered Flood to leave the hall. Flood didn't like that and told the officer that the badge did not figure with him and a lot of other things that caused the officer to place him under arrest. When he started for the station with the man Flood started a wild scene crying out for other sailors to come and rescue him. Patrolman Philbrick took a hand and the crowd of sailors grew larger every minute following the police to the station.

While passing along Daniel street some of the crowd picked up and threw large rocks weighing over three pounds at the officers but none of them struck the police.

Flood appeared in court today and pleaded guilty to being drunk. Judge Guphill sentenced him to 60 days in the house of correction which he later changed to a fine of $12.75 on request of the command officer of one of the ships at the navy yard who informed the court that Flood would receive further punishment in the service including restriction to the ship while it remained in Portsmouth.

BIG BUILDING FOR AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL PLANT

The plant of the Agricultural Chemical Co., which now owns the Eastern Oil and Rendering Co. and the McElwain Co.'s plants, will be enlarged. Several officials arrived here today. The contractors will build a brick building at once and 500,000 bricks will be required in its construction. The work will be started as soon as the material can be secured.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the list of fast horses for the Portsmouth fair now numbers 50.

That more are on the way and it looks like some excellent racing.

That if the plans of the fair management are carried out and the weather man behaves, Portsmouth will see some of the best racing that has ever taken place in this state.

That the first mail from the Portsmouth men with the Railroad Engineers of the Boston and Maine have reached this city from England.

That a resident of Bridge street says he doesn't mind a little fun from the jackies but does object to the removing and breaking of blinds on his house at night.

That a delegation of people from North Kittery recently held a picnic at Sea Point of which there were many children.

That the kids are still talking about the picnic, not that it was the best outing they ever attended.

That they are wondering why or how the ice cream got lost in the shuffle.

That some one has got to show them some of the delicious frozen mixture before they are seen at Sea Point again.

That some of the seized goods sold at the custom house on Tuesday went for less than the price of the bottles.

That Company M of the New Hampshire state guard of Concord had its first parade in uniform on Tuesday night.

That it's about time that the Portsmouth people got a look at the state guards of Portsmouth.

That the clerical force of the new shipbuilding plant has taken seven rooms on the second floor of the New Hampshire bank building.

That a Harvard man says those who pay more than 24 cents a day for meals are living in luxury.

That might be all right for the college professor but no one will ever be affected with gout on any 24-cent meal in Portsmouth.

That if a man has any idea a wom-

An has industrial ability, let him try dressing a fussy baby and carry on a conversation with a mouth full of pins.

That another eating house for this city is on the way.

That it will be opened on Daniel street by a party from Lawrence, Mass.

That time certainly makes changes.

That once a person could get no Sunday meat here outside of a regular hotel.

That one can dig up a meal on any corner if the cash is handy.

That the Creek A. C. are not taking kindly to the substituting of navy men for the musical class which they had the honor of organizing and getting into training.

WAR TAX MEASURE IS INCREASED

Washington, Aug. 29.—To meet the radical needs of the government the war tax measure was increased by the Senate finance committee more than 33 per cent, whereas a former resolution called for an increase of 26 per cent.

The advance war tax measure will increase the yield from $562,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 in addition to the taxes under the present law, which are expected to yield a third.

OBITUARY

Henry P. Spinney.
Henry P. Spinney of Elliot died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George H. Fuller, No. 25 Gates street in this city, Tuesday evening, after a long illness. Mr. Spinney was 81 years old and was born in Kittery, Jan. 6, 1836, the son of James and Nancy Spinney. He worked as a caulker on the Portsmouth navy yard for a number of years.

Besides his daughter he is survived by three sons, Eugene H. of this city, Henry C. of Elliot and H. Clinton of Lynn, Mass., also several grandchildren.

OBSEQUIES

A Thurston Parker.
The funeral services over the remains of the late A. Thurston Parker were held from the home on Hanover street on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Percy W. Caswell rendered a touching tribute to the deceased. The following members of the De Witt Clinton Commandery conducted the Knights Templar services and acted as pall bearers: M. W. Anthony, W. B. Randall, R. W. Jenkins, H. W. Peyser, A. R. Jenkins, J. L. Parker, J. S. Leach and C. L. York. Interment was in the family lot in Sagamore cemetery under the direction of O. W. Hann.

TAG DAY FOR WAR CAMP FUND.

Saturday, September 8th, has been chosen by the local Council as Tag Day for the Knights of Columbus War Camp Fund.

This fund is to be used in furnishing recreation centers for the men of our Army and Navy at each of the Cantonment Camps throughout the United States as well as to care for their moral and social welfare while in France.

In every city and town this appeal has met with most generous response and it is hoped that Portsmouth Council will be able to raise a goodly sum for this most worthy cause.

WORK ON THE Y. M. C. A. HUT COMMENCED

Work on the Y. M. C. A. hut for the enlisted men at Fort Constitution, which is being erected by a popular subscription started by the Herald, has commenced and will be pushed to rapid completion. After the hut is completed it will have to be furnished and the public is respectfully requested to contribute as liberally as their means will admit. The enlisted men at the fort are taking a deep interest in the erection of the new building, which is to serve as a recreation center during the long, cold months of the winter, and is expected to furnish much comfort and cheer.

SALVATION ARMY TO HAVE A TAG DAY

This Hon. Mayor Ladd has given permission for the local Salvation Army to have a tag day this Saturday, Sept. 1, to raise sufficient funds to purchase and equip an ambulance to be used with the United States forces in France.

The Salvation Army is doing a great work in this war and it is hoped that the necessary funds ($1000) may be raised to send an ambulance from this city. Every house in the city will be visited by one of the workers from the Army and all will have an opportunity to do a little.

TO TAKE POSITION IN THIS CITY.

A Rochester correspondent says: After more than twelve years of faithful service, Lewis G. Cate has tendered his resignation as decorator at the Fair store to become effective next Saturday. Mr. Cate has accepted a more lucrative position in the Foye store in Portsmouth.

GONE IN THE ARMY.

James J. Moynahan, for some time located in this city where he was employed as a blacksmith for the Hissop stables, has enlisted in the army with the rank of sergeant, and is now in camp at Buxford, Mass.
